Joseph Estep, Mary and Cora Murphy and Richard Hurst attended the Christmas tree at Hazel Green.

Ben Murphy says that the last Mt. Sterling sale went off Republican as several cattle were left over unsold.

While hunting on the 24th, Buford Murphy accidentally shot his favorite bird dog, killing him instantly.

Curtis McGuire, of Korea, and a Miss Wells were married last week at the home of the bride, Rev. B. F. McGuire officiating.

Claude Manning, of Fill's branch, and Miss Callie Center, of Public Square, were married Christmas at the home of the bride.

Christmas was a gala day on this creek. A new brigade of bird and rabbit hunters was formed, the pass word was, "There they go, there they lay."

Dave Jackson, Jr., of Nanny, sold his farm to Dave Jackson, Sr., last week for $700. He has contracted another farm near Spencer Station.

The Public Square school closed on the 24th, with Arthur Kash as principal. Misses Golden Murphy, Maggie and Vestie Pieratt, Martha Murphy; Messrs. Chessie Pieratt, Linden Kash and Francis Day were the prize winners.

Louis Helton, of Maytown, purchased a farm from Green Salyer for $150. Helton will soon move into his new mansion at Maytown, as he is now sheriff of the little city.

On Dec. 25th the poet gave his annual Christmas tree this time at the home of Ben Murphy. It was a scene of beauty, a scene in which the poor orphans were not forgotten, a scene in which Santa Claus gave generously to all. And ice cream and other refreshments were also served. Charles Habicht, of THE HERALD printing office, kindly donated seven of his famous passe partout pictures and several other articles which added much to the beauty of the occasion. They all left with their goods and happy hearts; each one promising if they live to see another Christmas they would surely come again.

PORT.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

This is Worth Reading.

Leo F. Zelinski, of 68 Gibson St., Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I cured the most annoying cold sore I ever had, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. I applied this salve once a day for two days, when every trace of the sore was gone. Heals all sores. Sold under guarantee at all dealers. 25c."

Your Hair Contrary?

Is it inclined to run away? Don't punish it with a cruel brush and comb! Feed it, nourish it, save it with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Then your hair will remain at home, on your head, where it belongs. An elegant dressing. Keeps the scalp healthy. Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's
Formula with each bottle
Show it to your doctor
Ask him about it,
then do as he says

We certainly believe this, or we would not say so. Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, is a great preparation for the hair and scalp. Stops falling hair. Cures dandruff. Promotes the growth of hair.

Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE HERALD.

James Wilson, of Daysboro, was in town last week.

C. B. Allen, of Lee City, was in town a few days ago on business.

Seborn Walter sold John Brewer a yoke of oxen last week for $75.

Miss Molly Coldiron closed her school at the Amyx district last Thursday.

Dr. Center reports the birth of a boy to the wife of Kelly Lawson, of Lacy creek.

Sam Wilson, the painter-poet, is this week decorating the overhead of THE HERALD office.

J. R. Nickell, of Ezel, was in town Monday for the purpose of enrolling his boys in school.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Hughes, of Pomeroyton, spent Christmas with Mrs. Hughes' father, A. C. Nickell.

We can't make space for "Stray Shots" from Mexico this issue, but they will appear next week.

Cleveland Mann and family, of Blackwater, visited Mrs. Mann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Dye, last week.

Misses Nettie Nickell, of Gillmore, and Nannie Brooks, of Daysboro, spent Christmas with Mrs. Ellsworth Lacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Curtess, of Ohio, spent the holidays here with Mr. Curtess' sister, Mrs. M. O. Carter.

Dr. Center informs us that Mrs. Southey Lacy, of Lacy creek, has been quite ill for a week past with lumbago.

E. C. Daniel, who has been attending school in Ohio for several months, is spending the holidays with homefolks.

Howard Bach, of Insko, visited relatives here part of last week, and Tuesday matriculated at the academy for the winter term.

If you have any saddles or harness that need repairing take them to S. F. Reynolds and see how neatly and cheaply he can do the job.

Miss Daisy Day will leave one day this week or the early part of next to visit relatives at Winchester and Mt. Sterling for an indefinite period.

Everett Back and wife, with their little daughter, Hallie, were the guests of Mrs. Back's parents, F. N. Day and wife, from Thursday until Tuesday morning.

Jimmie Hollon, who has been in Chicago visiting his brother, Clay Hollon, for the past few months, came home Friday, and was much pleased with his visit to the windy city.

John Ward has been on the sick list for some days past. Indeed he was confined to his house Christmas day, and Saturday was too ill to attend the election of officers of Mizpah Lodge.

Lee City, Ky.

A white and red roan cow, medium size, dehorned, and looks to be fresh in about 8 months, came to my place Dec. 11, 1908.

CHARLEY PATRICK.

Mrs. Nan Bell and son, of Lexington, are the guests of Charley Cecil and wife. Mrs. Bell was a Goodwin before marriage and a daughter of Uncle Tom Goodwin, who formerly owned the Jas. Rose farm on Grassy.

Among those who attended the house party given by Al Dye last week were: Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Mann and daughter, Miss Matlee of Dan, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Virginia Rose, of Gillmore.

Aunt Ellen Pieratt a few days since received a California gold hat pin and a silver thimble with gold rim from her granddaughter Miss Hallie Thomas, of Chico, Cal., as a Christmas gift, and she is quite proud of them.

The editor and his better seven-eighths acknowledge the receipt of Christmas and New Year greetings from Mrs. Lillian Cecil, Cedar Bluff, Va., Mrs. Totters and Miss McElroy, of Silverton, Ohio, and W. J. Lampton, New York.

Marked for Death.

"Three years ago I was marked or death. A graveyard cough was tearing my lung to pieces. Doctors failed to help me, and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Bac, Ky. "The first dose helped me and improvement kept on until I had gained 58 lbs in weight and my health was fully restored." This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at all dealers. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The editor and his better seven-eighths acknowledge the receipt of some of the wedding cake from the nuptials of Arlie Cecil and bride, (nee) Bertha Toliver. It was from the feast set by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Cecil.

Miss Arta Dye gave her semi-annual reception to the students of both heights and town Monday evening. The guests numbered about thirty. Each opening of school is always made brighter for our boys and girls by these sociable socials.

The trial of Beach Hargis resulted in a hung jury—three for conviction and nine for acquittal. The motion for bail for Beach Hargis was made before Judge J. P. Adams Tuesday. He reserved his decision, but will settle the matter before he leaves Irvine Saturday.

Misery in Stomach.

Why not start now—today, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, take Pape's Diapiesin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and besides, one triangle will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapiesin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to begin taking Diapiesin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapiesin, because you want to be thoroughly cured of Indigestion.

EZEL EVOLUTIONS.

A very large crowd attended the Christmas tree, and everything went off very nicely.

Miss Emma Sample spent Sunday with J. S. Nickell and family.

The following took dinner with John D. Henry Christmas: Miss Emma Sample, J. S. Nickell and family and Elizabeth Nickell.

Clifford Nickell, who is traveling for Trimble Bros., spent Xmas with home folks.

Mrs. Ollie Sample and family spent Thursday night with her father, S. D. Goodwin.

Quite a number from this place will enter H. G. A., next week for the winter term.

Joe Cecil made a trip to Rothwell Thursday.

A social was given Tuesday night at the home of James Davis. Every one present seemed to enjoy the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Farmer and little daughter spent Christmas at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Dennis and children spent Christmas with Mrs. Dennis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Nickell.

Dec. 26. ARBOR VITAE.

Tuttle, Okla., Dec. 18, 1908.

Editor HERALD: Perhaps some of my friends and relatives would like to hear from me, so I will write them through the dear old HERALD.

I have bought a farm four miles East of town. This is sure a fine country, real estate is increasing fast in value, and land close to town often sells as high as $100 per acre. So many people are coming from the East makes it almost impossible for a man to rent in this section.

I have a good position on a ranch weighing and keeping books. The crop will make 50,000 bushels. Tuttle is a growing town of 1000 inhabitants, has 3 elevators, 1 gin and 2 banks. In one day 445 loads of corn were hauled to the elevator which averaged 50 bushels per load. Grady county is a part of the Chickasaw nation, and is the banner corn county of the state by 250,000 bushels. By this statement the readers can have an idea of the wealth of Oklahoma.

I have met several Kentuckians. Among them were: Jonas Vansant, F. P. Henry and Wal Elam, of Tuttle; Mrs. Emma Jeffries, of Oklahoma City; Frank Murphy and wife, Mr. Cardwell and family and Mr. Landsaw, all of Chandler. I will close by wishing THE HERALD and its many readers a prosperous year.

CLARENCE CECIL.

Resolutions of Respect on the Death of Sister Laura Nickell.

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom saw fit to call from labor on Dec. 3, 1908, our sister and neighbor, Laura A. Nickell.

Resolved: That on her death the Hazel Green Hive, No. 47, has lost a faithful member.

Resolved: That the members of this Hive hold in grateful remembrance her fidelity to the principles of our order, and that the sisters extend to the husband and children their most profound sympathy in their loss, and commend them to the care of Him who never fails in time of trouble.

Resolved: That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the family and a copy to THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD for publication.

Mrs. GEO. WHEELER.

Mrs. R. H. PATTON.

Miss FALAY LONG.

Committee.

An automobile is a good deal like a woman. It will run along for a while as nicely and smoothly as can be and seem the greatest invention of the age. Then all at once it will sulk, and no one can tell what is the matter with it.

The lady relatives of the members of Mizpah Lodge, No. 507, F. & A. M. set a magnificent dinner Saturday last just after the election of officers, as follows:

J. H. Rose, Worshipful Master.
K. M. Couch, Senior Warden.
D. B. Center, Junior Warden.
J. M. Nickell, Secretary.
J. H. Sebastian, Treasurer.
Ira Wells, Chaplain.
T. J. Taulbee, Senior Deacon.
W. H. Tackett, Junior Deacon.
Joseph Roberts, Stewart & Tyler.

The Christmas tree at Pearre Hall, Christmas eve night attracted quite a large crowd, and many people were made happy by the gifts called out for them. John Craven acted the part of Santa Claus and did quite well in the character. Prof. Carter was master of ceremonies, and all went well. An admission of 10 cents was charged all save those who took part in the entertainment given, and this was for the benefit of a hospital fund. The amount realized was $10.00.

Uncle Jim Little, who recently moved from the Evans property to the Roe Nickell dwelling, says the street he lives on is called Spring street, after the sulphur spring near by, and that it boasts a doctor, three blacksmiths, a carpenter and last, though not least, a preacher.

Some people may think it strange that Christmas and New Year's does not fall on the same day of the week this year, but figure it out and see.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Wolfe Circuit Court, Kentucky.

FARMERS AND TRADERS BANK, Plaintiff, against ROY SMITH, ETC., Defendants.

Under and by virtue of a Venditioni Exponas, which issued from the Clerk's office of the Wolfe Circuit court, No. 1,470, on the 9th day of December, 1908, in the above styled case, I or one of my deputies will on

THE BOY PONY EXPRESS RIDER

BY BUFFALO BILL

FROM "TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS"

COPYRIGHT, 1909 BY WILLIAM F. CODY

I WAS fourteen when I became a pony express rider. I had one or two adventures in that pursuit which may prove interesting to read. They were certainly interesting enough to me at the time. The job was worth $125 a month and meant ceaseless danger.

The importance of the pony express has to a certain extent been lost sight of, but it might be well to impress on the reader the fact of its value at that time in connection with the great trouble occurring shortly after its inception between the sections of our country—the civil war of 1861. The difficulties of communicating with the newly acquired empire on the Pacific through the route via Panama or the passage around Cape Horn would have left effective information stale, flat and unprofitable on account of the time, and the fact that the southwest section was not open for communication to the Union authorities at Washington emphasized its necessity.

The pony express, by giving the government facilities for quick communication—quick for those days—was enabled to keep in touch with every movement and counteracted in an effective manner what might have resulted in a separation from us of our grand Pacific possessions.

Its service had been repeatedly suggested to congress, but after several years of agitation it failed of government assistance through the then disunited aims of many congressional leaders, and eventually it was undertaken by Messrs. Russell, Majors, Waddell & Co. at their own risk and responsibility, a public spirited, patriotic action for which they never received proper financial recognition.

This was the great government freighting firm under whom I had served as courier between its overland wagon trails. Its object was to cover the vast telegraphic gap between New York and San Francisco, which began at St. Joe, Mo., and ended at Sacramento, Cal., with greater speed, a distance of more than 2,000 miles through a country totally uninhabited, but savage Indians. At that time it took months for congressmen and government officials to reach the Golden Gate or to arrive at Washington, and it took from twenty-two to twenty-five days to send a message from New York to San Francisco across the continent. It had taken stagecoaches three weeks or more to go from the Missouri river to Sacramento. By means of relay stations, 200 in number, employing 600 hardy ponies and from eighty to a hundred expert riders, my employers made it possible for dispatches and messages written on tissue paper so as to avoid all unnecessary weight to be carried that distance on the backs of swift ponies in from eight to ten days. The route chosen is now traversed by the Union Pacific railroad, in those days an almost trackless wilderness, swarming with Indians and highwaymen.

On the 3d of April, 1859, two riders started, one from St. Joe, Mo., and one from Sacramento, Cal. At the start the dispatch bags would be thrown over a pony's saddle. The rider would mount and ride at top speed to the first relay station. There a fresh pony would be waiting, on whose back the dispatch bags would be hastily thrown, then off again, and so on till the "relief" rider would snatch the bags and dash off with them for the next lap of the long race. The relays averaged fifteen miles apart. Forty-five to 105 miles semi-weekly each way at full speed over rough country was a rider's daily stunt. Riders started at forty-five mile trips and as they became hardened took the longer trips, which naturally brought them larger pay. This was not an easy job for a fourteen-year-old boy. But I stuck to it in spite of aching bones and a tired head.

For the first three months I had no mishaps. I began to think the talk of danger was all bosh. Then as I was galloping around a curve on a hillside trail one day I rode flush up to a leveled pistol. The man behind it told me to throw up my hands. I obeyed. There is no use arguing with a loaded pistol. Frontiersmen in those days shot to kill. The road agent dismounted and walked up to me to take my saddlebags. I tried to look scared and harmless. He lowered his revolver as he reached for the bags. Just then I whirled my pony around. The little horse's plunge knocked the man off his feet, and a stray kick from one of the iron shod hoofs grazed the fellow's head, knocking him senseless.

Having no further interest in him, I was glad enough to make my escape.

Here is a further adventure of importance: One day I galloped up to a relay station and found no relief pony waiting for me. Not a soul was in sight. But I heard men yelling and shooting down by the corral back of the station. I jumped off, rifle in one hand and my twenty pound pouches in the other, and made for the trees that hid the corral from the trail. I thought from the noise that there must be an Indian raid there at least.

I reached the little clearing above the corral in time to see a gigantic buffalo bull charge through a bunch of cattle and rush on toward the doorway of the station. Four or five men were yelling at the top of their lungs and blazing away at him with guns and revolvers. But if any of the shots reached the brute they only served to madden him all the more. It was no business of mine, so I stood there laughing at their excitement. But all at once I stopped laughing and turned sick at what I saw.

There, near the door of the cabin, playing with a big wooden doll, sat a little girl perhaps three years old. She wore a little red cloak, and the bright bit of color had caught the mad buffalo's attention. Down at the unconscious playing baby charged the great, furious brute. The men saw her peril just when I did, and they fired wildly and came forward at a dead run. But they were too far away.

A woman ran screaming out of the house and rushed toward the child. She had no weapon of any kind and probably couldn't have used one if she had had. But I suppose mother love made her forget the horrible peril and she wanted to die with her little girl. Women are sometimes braver, I think, than men, especially where their children are concerned.

The buffalo was not fifteen yards away from the child when I brought my rifle instinctively to my shoulder. I wouldn't give myself time to think what must happen if I should miss. It was one of those times when a man must not fail in his aim.

Just then the baby looked up and saw the murderous brute. She clapped both hands and gave a squeal of delight. She probably thought the beast was some new sort of playmate.

As she called out I fired! The buffalo's legs seemed to tuck themselves up under him. The impetus of his rush carried him along the ground full ten feet, and he came to a stop with his head not six inches from the little girl's knee, stone dead.

Then after the men had pounded me on the back till I was sore the child's mother insisted on kissing me. How a healthy fourteen-year-old boy does loathe to be kissed!

Although among the youngest of the couriers, I seemed to have filled the bill and was promoted, as was Johnny Fry, to $150 per month, but to a more dangerous route.

My age at the time of riding the pony express will naturally create attention and possibly surprise from the readers of the present day, as the youth at that age in the west—from fourteen to sixteen—was in many respects a man from the time he could shoulder a rifle or fire a pistol, with all a man's responsibility, but voting. Of course I suppose in the centers of manufacture, indoor work or in mines it is necessary to protect children under the child labor law. But the conditions were such on the frontier that the boy acquired an early experience, and both the Indian boys and the white boys at the age of fourteen or fifteen were ranked in every way as factors to be accounted for on any occasions that arose demanding energy, stamina and pluck.

Hundreds of other boys at that time were in the same class as myself, ready, willing and able to do and dare—little men.

The importance to the white man of quick communication soon dawned on the Indians and aroused them to special endeavors to harass, intercept and kill off the messengers in charge of this work. Consequently after the first few weeks pony express riding became probably one of the most dangerous occupations known in the world's history, and my new route was the limit.

The reader can imagine that it was lonely. It demanded endurance above the ordinary to defy the summer's heat and winter's snowstorms and blizzards, skill in crossing temporary bridges and dangerous streams with shifting fords and treacherous quicksands, which had to be often got over at night, sometimes swollen torrents, and horses and riders had to swim, momentarily liable to ambush by the ever alert savages, then the monarchs of the prairies. The reader will understand that the Indian was master of all the country outside the ride range of a station or fort. This gave to the very atmosphere a sense of continual peril, making possible a death so horrible that its possibility was as trying to the imagination as capture made its decree a certainty, with all the horrors of torture.

That many riders met this fateful end is history, while other escapes were simply miraculous. Those who came out alive on the arrival at a station often found that one of the riders had fallen a victim to the savage foe and had to take up his burden, and in such cases he had to pound the saddle over the stiff country for another hundred miles. The fact that the dead body was often somewhere along the trail, of course, did not add pleasant thoughts to the journey. Nothing but a quick perception and rapidity of action and seemingly intuitive knowledge when danger threatened and the angel of good luck assisted me to escape many a close call. Several times I had bullets through my buckskins, twice through my saddle, and on one occasion my sturdy mount received a bad flesh wound. On two occasions my good marksmanship saved me at the expense of the roster of the Sioux braves by sending two at different times to their happy hunting grounds. On several occasions I had to resume the route of slaughtered couriers, notably on one occasion which stands as possibly a record in the story of this dangerous duty.

While riding between the Red Buttes of the Platte and the Three Crossings of the Sweetwater I had what was considered a most difficult and lonely route. On reaching Three Crossings I found the rider of the next division had been killed the night before, which necessitated my covering his route, and on arrival there the rider who should have been on hand had not turned up, having been killed, as was afterward ascertained, so I was compelled to ride the two routes without stop, except for meals and change of horses, successfully making the journey (or round trip) without sleep, only stopping to change horses and snatch a hasty meal. This ride created a sensation, so I will quote from an authority best able to place it on record as a historical fact—namely, Alexander Majors himself in his book of "Seventy Years on the Frontier."

"Among the most noted and daring riders of the pony express was Hon. William F. Cody, better known as 'Buffalo Bill,' whose reputation is now established the world over. While engaged in the express service his route lay between Red Buttes and Three Crossings. It was a most dangerous, long and lonely trail, including perilous crossings of swollen and turbulent streams. An average of fifteen miles an hour had to be made, including change of horses, detours for safety and time for meals. Once upon reaching Three Crossings he found that the rider on the next division had been killed during the night before, and he was called on to make the extra trip until another rider could be procured. This was a request the compliance with which would involve the most taxing labors and an endurance few persons are capable of. Nevertheless young Cody was promptly on hand for the additional journey and reached Rocky Ridge, the limit of the second route, on time. This round trip of 321 miles was made without a stop, except for meals and to change horses, and every station on the route was entered on time. This is one of the longest and best ridden pony express journeys ever made, the entire distance, 321 miles, being covered in 21 hours and 30 minutes."

To Drive Away the Mail Order Wolf

You can drive him out quickly if you use the mail order houses' own weapon—advertising. Mail order concerns are spending thousands of dollars every week in order to get trade from the home merchants. Do you think for a minute they would keep it up if they didn't get the business? Don't take it for granted that every one within a radius of 25 miles knows what you have to sell, and what your prices are. Nine times out of ten your prices are lower, but the customer is influenced by the up-to-date advertising of the mail order house. Every article you advertise should be described and priced. You must tell your story in an interesting way, and when you want to reach the buyers of this community use the columns of this paper.
